

Modern day Robin Hoods?

Trading on the stock market is just a big get-rich-quick scheme.

These small online traders should be considered activists.

In the end, the big Wall Street sharks are going to win this fight.

I don't see anything wrong with trading practices as long as they are within the law.

There are better ways to stick it to the man.

This is the beginning of a revolution.

These uneducated day-traders have no business messing with the stock market in such a big way.

I love watching billionaires lose money.

It's always nice to see the little guy win.

It's not about principles, it's just business.

The stock market should be outlawed entirely.

It's never been easier to trade on the stock market, and that's dangerous.
