

Escaping the Iron Curtain

People were more politically outspoken in the past.

Truly gifted people are typically a little crazy.

I would do anything to escape the clutches of modern day life.

Very few people must plot their escape in the 21st century.

Radical thinkers are not as necessary as before.

Freedom comes at a cost.

Daniel Pohl's vision of freedom is similar to my own.

America is the best place in the world to enjoy personal freedom and find opportunity.

Too much freedom can damage a country.

The threat of prison is a good way to get citizens to tone down political speech.

To put it mildly, this plan was extremely dangerous.

I know exactly who would be my partner in crime. It would be...

Very few of us are truly free.

Make your escape!

Each watch tower represents an obstacle on the island.
1) With your partner, create an unescapable island prison.
2) Then, trade with another group. Recount your escape as a group from the island prison (start at "X").
