ESL EXPERTZ
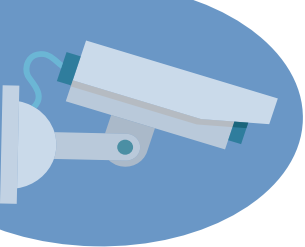

Chinese social credit score:

I want this in my country because ranking people like this would encourage good behavior.

It's a good way to reward model citizens.

This system is crucial to building a moral society.

This is only the first step of a digital dictatorship.

The public humiliation part is a bit much, but the rest, why not?

Some people deserve to be blacklisted.

Finally! A solution for all that annoying and disruptive behavior!

I would enjoy all the perks and benefits because I'm a model citizen.

It's the future. We'd better get used to it.

This system guarantees the security of ordinary citizens.

I don't want to live in an episode of Black Mirror!.

There's no way in hell this type of thing could ever happen in my country.

The only problem is that the state decides the scoring system.
